About the guide ...

The "SC Green Guide" provides information you can use to better understand a variety of environmental topics. This information is part of a call to action for each of us to do what we can to protect and preserve South Carolina's environment. It is our environment. It is our responsibility.

The topics that are addressed explain not only why they are important, but also what each of us can do to help. You will be reminded of or learn ways to keep our air clean, protect your home from radon, conserve water, recycle, stay safe while fishing or swimming and even prepare for a hurricane. With each topic, telephone numbers and Web links are provided for additional information. With this guide, you'll also find ways to conserve resources, save energy and protect the state's environment.

South Carolina and future generations are counting on each of us. Together, we can do it.
